Earl Arboneaux, Jr, is a member of LPS and resides in Greenwell Springs, Louisiana. He grew up in Napoleonville, Louisiana, and he frequently visited Lake Verret and the Atchafalaya Basin in his earlier years. The scenery on the lakes and swamps always fascinated him, and the call of nature always kept him coming back for more.

Currently, the majority of his photographs are centered around the nature for which he has a deep love and passion, but he also enjoys the challenge of photographing many different types of subjects. One of his goals as a photographer is to provide a unique perspective of our beautiful world through images that communicate words and feelings.

Photography has helped him not only to look at things in a very unique way but also to see things beyond the scene in front of him that he would not have noticed otherwise. He hopes the pictures that are presented have a visual impact and give you a great appreciation of God's creation and the world in which we live.
